THE FOODIE

Seriously, who doesn't love to eat? Giving the gift of food is a surefire way to please pretty much anyone, no matter how hard they are to shop for. — Josh Engel

TRIBECA TREATS COOKIE BASKET

If you're looking for a gift that will last past the holidays, you may want to check out Tribeca Treats' Cookie of the Month Club. The company is famous for delivering fresh-baked cookies to celebrities such as Katie Couric and Christy Turlington, and has developed a line-up of freshly baked cookies for each month of the year. Selections include heart-shaped raspberry lindzer cookies in February, cinnamon buttermilk cookies in August, and holiday-ready gingerbread men in time for next December. For less committed cookie-eaters, Tribeca Treats also offers a variety of attractive cookie baskets and gift boxes that do not require a subscription.

Prices range from $360 for a year's subscription to the Cookie of the Month Club to $12.00 for a 12 piece cookie assortment; available at tribecatreats.com.
